Paths of the Sacred: Voices from Contemporary Pagan Traditions ~ Monday, September 28, 2026 5:30 Pacific, 8:30 Eastern Time

What does it mean to walk a Pagan spiritual path today? Join us for a lively conversation with practitioners from several contemporary Pagan traditions—including Witchcraft, Druid, Goddess spirituality, Wicca, and Feraferia. Each panelist will share thoughts about their tradition, what draws them to it, what their personal practice looks like, and moments when they have felt deeply connected to the divine, or the sacred source of life.

This intrafaith conversation is sponsored by the Pagan Solidarity Alliance. It is an opportunity for people within the broad Pagan community to discover some of the diversity of our traditions and the common ground that connects us. It will provide time to explore different understandings of the sacred, shared values and practices, and experiences of interfaith and Pagan collaboration.
Everyone is welcome
, whether you are deeply involved in a Pagan tradition, or simply curious about Pagan spirituality.

This is a free event. The Zoom link will be on this page: https://pagansolidarity.us/plenary
